DETAILED ACTION

Location of Application

1. The location of the subject application has changed. The subject application is now located in Group 1630, Art Unit 1634.

Drawings

INFORMATION ON HOW TO EFFECT DRAWING CHANGES

1. Correction of Informalities -- 37 CFR 1.85

New corrected drawings must be filed with the changes incorporated therein. Identifying indicia, if provided, should include the title of the invention, inventor's name, and application number, or docket number (if any) if an application number has not been assigned to the application. If this information is provided, it must be placed on the front of each sheet and centered within the top margin. If corrected drawings are required in a Notice of Allowability (PTOL-37), the new drawings MUST be filed within the THREE MONTH shortened statutory period set for reply in the "Notice of Allowability." Extensions of time may NOT be obtained under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136 for filing the corrected drawings after the mailing of a Notice of Allowability. The drawings should be filed as a separate paper with a transmittal letter addressed to the Official Draftsperson.

2. Corrections other than Informalities Noted by Draftsperson on form PTO-948.

All changes to the drawings, other than informalities noted by the Draftsperson, MUST be made in the same manner as above except that, normally, a highlighted (preferably red ink) sketch of the changes to be incorporated into the new drawings MUST be approved by the examiner before the application will be allowed. No changes will be permitted to be made, other than correction of informalities, unless the examiner has approved the proposed changes.

Timing of Corrections

Art Unit: 1634

Applicant is required to submit acceptable corrected drawings within the time period set in the Office action. See 37 CFR 1.185(a). Failure to take corrective action within the set (or extended) period will result in ABANDONMENT of the application.

Claim Objections

2. Claims 68 and 69 are objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c), as being of improper dependent form for failing to further limit the subject matter of a previous claim. Applicant is required to cancel the claim(s), or amend the claim(s) to place the claim(s) in proper dependent form, or rewrite the claim(s) in independent form. As presently worded, claims 68 and 69 depend from canceled claim 64.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 68 and 69 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

5. Claims 68 and 69 depend from canceled claim 64 and as such, one is not able to determine the metes and bounds of the claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 1634

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35

U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

8. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

9. Claims 31-35, 38, 39, 63, and 65-67 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Boom et al. (Journal of Clinical Microbiology, March 1990, Vol. 28, No. 3, 495-503) in view of Impraim et al. (US Patent 6,228,578 B1), and Schnipelsky et al. (US Patent 5,229,297).

10. Boom et al., teach a method of DNA or RNA purification whereby DNA or RNA is freed from cells and is captured on silica particles, applicant's "microstructures." Washing and elution steps are disclosed.

Art Unit: 1634

11. The microstructures are disclosed as being freely in suspension, not bound to a support such as a wand or dipstick.

12. Impraim et al., column 7, disclose the use of beads, dipsticks, microparticles, etc. for the capture of nucleic acids to the surface of a solid support wherein antibodies are used to affect the binding. Impraim et al., do not explicitly teach that the beads or microparticles are bound to the solid support.

13. Schnipelsky et al., disclose a device that is used to capture nucleic acid subsequent to an amplification reaction. As seen in the figures, element 43, 43', 43'', 43''' are piles of immobilized beads that bind nucleic acids.

14. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time that the invention was made to have modified the method of Boom et al., whereby microparticles were not in suspension, as taught by Boom, but were immobilized to a solid support as taught by Impraim et al., and Schnipelsky et al., such as a dipstick or wand as disclosed by Impraim et al.

15. In view of the well-developed nature of the art, and the detailed guidance provided, the ordinary artisan would have been both motivated to have performed the above-described modification to the method of Boom et al., and would have also had a reasonable expectation of success. For the above reasons, and in the absence of convincing evidence to the contrary, the claimed invention is obvious in view of the prior art of record.

Art Unit: 1634

Conclusion

16. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Zander et al., (US Patent 5,173,260) disclosed immobilization of beads to a support whereby the beads are used to capture nucleic acids.
